WALTON CONTROLS OKLAHOMA SITUATION

REDOUBLES GUARD AROUND THE STATE CAPITOL, 75's OUT

Additional Troops Placed at Strategic Points Throughout the City, Score of Famous Law Enforcement Officers Backing Up Governor

Governor's Camp Elated by Action of Federal Administration in Refusing to Permit Use of Government Buildings for Proposed Meeting of Legislature

(United Press)

Oklahoma City, Okla., Sept. 26.—The showdown came today in Governor J. C. Walton's fight to prevent the meeting of a group of legislators seeking impeachment of the executive because of his martial law campaign against the Ku Klux Klan.

With a final flourish of military strength, Walton redoubled the guard around the state capitol, which the legislators planned to march on at noon; placed additional troops at strategic points throughout the city, and ordered the police department to disperse any crowds which might tend to inflame the citizens.

The governor was confident there would not be any bloodshed.

"I could run them all into the river with a toy gun," he said.

Apparently there was considerable confusion in the ranks of the legislators who, on the surface at least, were without a plan of procedure. A caucus scheduled for last night was not held. However, leaders said they had a plan mapped out which they believed would result in the success of their movement.

The governor's camp was elated by the action of the Federal administration in refusing to permit the use of government buildings for the proposed meeting of the legislature.

Governor Walton received a telegram from Bascom C. Slomp, secretary of President Coolidge, late last night, informing him that federal buildings could not be used for that purpose. The message was in reply to a telegram sent by the governor to President Coolidge, advising him that the legislature might attempt to meet on United States government property and balk the militia in its attempt to prevent a meeting.

With more than 300 armed guardsmen patrolling the streets; a battery of French 75's on duty; machine guns commanding all strategic points; a score of famous law enforcement officers to back him up, the governor believed he was master of the situation. Walton declared 30,000 volunteers were ready to "spring to arms" if it is necessary to use them in his fight.

The assembly of more than two persons near the state capitol was forbidden, and all civilians were warned by newspapers to keep away from the vicinity of the capitol.

State house employees were on a one-day vacation on orders from the governor.

Only one entrance to the capitol was unlocked, and a heavy guard of troops blocked the way to that door. "Ringside" seats were open to newspaper men, with the one definite understanding and restriction—that of remaining still.

PRESIDENT DIRECTS

NEUTRALITY OBSERVANCE

Washington, Sept. 26.—President Coolidge has directed that Federal officials in Oklahoma maintain the strictest neutrality in any struggle that may occur between Governor Walton and the state legislature, or other authorities.

Emphatic orders not to permit the use of Federal buildings in Oklahoma City or any other place in Oklahoma as an assembly hall for the state legislature, called to meet today to investigate charges against Governor Walton, were telegraphed last night to custodians of all Federal buildings in the state by Bascom Slomp, the president's secretary.

LEGISLATORS LEAVE CAPITOL SILENTLY

ganizer, in addressing members of the Wilmington division of the Klan today.

Orders mobilizing members of the order in Oklahoma have been issued, he said. They will be armed "and will fight for their constitutional rights," he added.

MARCH BEGINS ON THE CAPITOL

Oklahoma City, Okla., Sept. 26.—Insurgent state representatives seeking to impeach Governor J. C. Walton for his military warfare on the Ku Klux Klan began their march on the state capitol at 9:55 a. m. today.

As the legislators left their headquarters at the Skirvin hotel, they were flanked on either side by columns of Walton representatives, including some of the Southwest's most famous gunmen.

The legislators planned to meet despite Governor Walton's threat to jail them all in case they attempted to gather. Towering "Buck" Garrett and Zack Mulhall, with heavy revolvers in plain view, directed the peace officers. The legislators marched between the columns of Walton operatives out of the hotel.

Garrett stood silently, without a smile on his face, his broad brimmed hat pulled far down over his unblinking eyes. At his direction his assistants jumped to phone booths in the hotel lobby and flashed word to military headquarters and to the executive mansion that "they're starting."

The vanguard of the invading representatives arrived at the capitol a few minutes after they left the hotel.

They entered the building by the one unlocked door. The representatives made no attempt to gather, but strolled about singly and in pairs.

"We will not attempt to convene until when the session is called," it was announced.

The legislators were under constant surveillance, and soldiers watched each group.

Word has been received from the capitol building that members would be allowed in the halls and corridors but would not be permitted to enter the senate chamber or the hall of representatives.

Armed guards were patrolling the halls and corridors of the buildings. Sentries were posted at the entrances of the chambers of both branches of the legislature.

About 30 legislators strolled about the corridors at 10:30. Others straggled in through the unlocked door.

From 150 to 200 guardsmen were on patrol and sentry duty around the capitol building. Additional guards-

CHARGE THAT THE PROHIBITION FORCES ARE MISREPRESENTING HIM

STATEMENT BY WISCONSIN DIVISION, ASSOCIATION AGAINST THE DRY AMENDMENT

(By United Press)

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 26.—

With an aim of trying to becloud the issue and giving members of congress and others an excuse to thwart the expressed will of citizens who believe in a more liberal policy, President Coolidge's attitude with respect to modification of the Volstead act is being misrepresented by prohibition forces, according to a statement issued by the Wisconsin division of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, made public today.

"Becoming desperate because they fear public sentiment is growing in favor of modification of the Volstead act, the Anti-Saloon League is resorting to the expedient of misrepresenting President Coolidge's attitude on the question," the statement said.

The statement says the president is not merely being misrepresented but embarrassed by propaganda which gives the impression that he will veto any measure passed by Congress which aims to restore the legal manufacture of wholesome beer.

German Capitalist to Enter Oil Industry

New York, Sept. 26.—According to the New York Commercial, Hugo Stinnes, the German industrial baron is making determined efforts to break into oil production on so vast a scale that he will be able to compete successfully with the Standard and other large oil groups in the country, and with the Royal Dutch and Anglo-Persian organizations in the near east. Stinnes and a group of bankers financing the effort are reported to be bargaining for oil fields in Texas and for a new oil field in the western part of South America, where independent American oil producers have found oil in fabulous amounts. Should this new find prove as productive as early reports indicate, the Stinnes group or whoever obtains control will be able to compete in the far east with California crude and on the Atlantic seaboard with all kinds of American oil. The Panama canal will enable this field to market in Europe and furnish the Stinnes industries with enough fuel to enable them to discount the loss of the German coal fields.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 26.—The secret price cutting program of independent competitors forced the Standard Oil company of Indiana to make a cut of 6.6 cents on August 14, John D. Clarke, vice-president of the company, testified here today in the Wisconsin probe of the oil industry.

DIVERSIFIED FARMING ENABLES S. D. WIDOW TO PAY OFF BIG DEBT

Aberdeen, S. D., Sept. 26.—A woman living on a farm near here, who was left a widow two years ago, with a farm partly paid for and three small children to provide for, found herself facing a total debt of approximately $10,000. She decided to stick to the farm, and bankers say she has made a notable record of success, with one hired man to do the heavy work.

She first divided the work to be done by herself and the hired man, she caring for four cows, a large flock of chickens and a number of hogs. The first year, 1922, she was able to place in the bank $3,300 against her indebtedness, aside from the living expenses of herself and children, which were provided by the sale of eggs, chickens and cream.

This season she rented and worked an additional 80 acres, making 240 in all, and she and her hired man again managed the whole farm, except at harvest and threshing time.

She will this fall bank about $3,500, according to her friends, who are pointing to her success as an example of what close application to diversified farming will accomplish.

Two hours of selling at 16 cents brought results and gasoline is selling at 18 cents cash at several stations in the city, with the battle still on and some dealers still holding out at 20 cents.

Judge J. T. Sanborn

Judge Sanborn had put in the morning as usual at his office in the court house, coming home at the noon hour as customary. A few minutes later he complained of a pain in the region of his heart, and died before medical assistance could be secured.

On last Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Sanborn and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Day motored to the Cross Lake country for an outing and picnic, and Mr. Sanborn seemed in unusually good spirits, and according to Mr. Day looked better than he had for some time.

He was born in Maine about seventy years ago, coming to Brainerd probably in 1880.

He first worked as a clerk in a grocery conducted by Dan Smith, and later was proprietor of the City Hotel on Front street. It was during this time that he represented the first ward as alderman. For the past twenty years he has been judge of probate, which office he has filled with decided success.

He was affiliated with several fraternal organizations, and his lodge was his religion. He was a very active member of the Elks, being a past exalted ruler and for a number of years, up to the time of his death, was chaplain of the lodge. Many a district deputy has commented upon the wonderfully impressive manner in which he delivered his charge as chaplain. One of his last acts on the day of his death, on his way home to lunch, was in the interests of Elksdom.

Judge Sanborn was also closely connected with the Ancient Order of United Workmen, and has for years been receiver of Brainerd Lodge No. 47.

He was a kindly figure in the juvenile court, softening the asperity of the law, inducing offenders in many cases to lead better lives and thus become a credit to the community. He was a "big brother" for many of the juveniles, taking an interest in them and assisting them in many ways.

He was a moving power in child welfare work as can be attested by the child welfare board of the county. His wide knowledge of people and their affairs made him a valuable

Minneapolis, Sept. 26.—Whether a married woman who is not yet 16 years of age must attend school until her 16th birthday was the question City Attorney Neil M. LOVE LED THIS WOMAN TO TRY TO KILL HER CHILDREN

THOUGHT MAN SHE WAS TO MARRY WOULD NOT LIKE HER LITTLE BROOD

FED THEM STRYCHNINE, REPENTED, TOLD DOCTORS AND THEY WERE SAVED

(By United Press)

Elkhorn, Wis., Sept. 26.—Love for the man she expected to marry, a rare affection which dimmed mother love, is believed by authorities to have been the motive which prompted Mrs. Myrtle Schause, 37, pretty White-water widow, to feed her four small children candy containing strychnine because she imagined the man she loved did not like the children.

Authorities, after several days of investigation, located Ernest Kufahl, former boarder at the Schause home and to whom Mrs. Schause was to have been married shortly, at his home at McGrath, Minn.

After giving her children poisoned candy on Friday, two of them spit it out because it was bitter. Then, seeing her plan was to fail in its entirety because if all could not die at once she wanted them all alive, she hastily summoned physicians whose quick action saved the lives of two of the children who had swallowed only a small portion of the candy.

After an investigation by authorities she was brought to the county jail here on Saturday. According to county officials she confessed not only having attempted to take the lives of her children but also having poisoned her husband, who died in March, 1921.

She became hysterical after the confession. On Monday she was secretly arraigned in jail here. She entered a plea of guilty, but due to her hysterical condition Justice C. A. Lyon, who presided, did not accept the plea. In her behalf he entered a plea of "not guilty." The hearing was continued for 10 days.

(By United Press)

Elkhorn, Wis., Sept. 26.—Love for the man she expected to marry, a rare affection which dimmed mother love, is believed by authorities to have been the motive which prompted Mrs. Myrtle Schause, 37, pretty White-water widow, to feed her four small children candy containing strychnine because she imagined the man she loved did not like the children.

Authorities, after several days of investigation, located Ernest Kufahl, former boarder at the Schause home and to whom Mrs. Schause was to have been married shortly, at his home at McGrath, Minn.

After giving her children poisoned candy on Friday, two of them spit it out because it was bitter. Then, seeing her plan was to fail in its entirety because if all could not die at once she wanted them all alive, she hastily summoned physicians whose quick action saved the lives of two of the children who had swallowed only a small portion of the candy.

After an investigation by authorities she was brought to the county jail here on Saturday. According to county officials she confessed not only having attempted to take the lives of her children but also having poisoned her husband, who died in March, 1921.

She became hysterical after the confession. On Monday she was secretly arraigned in jail here. She entered a plea of guilty, but due to her hysterical condition Justice C. A. Lyon, who presided, did not accept the plea. In her behalf he entered a plea of "not guilty." The hearing was continued for 10 days.

Planes Race Across U. S. With Quake Films

Great Falls, Mont., Sept. 26.—Air pilots in a transcontinental race declared by the contestants to be for the greatest stake ever competed for in commercial flying, met here momentarily at the end of the first leg of a flight out of Seattle, while another plane was reported to have left San Francisco with the same destination in view. The prize is that of being the first to take to New York motion picture films of the Japanese earthquake.

HARD LIQUOR SALES BEGIN IN MANITOBA

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 26.—"Hard" liquors officially went on sale in Manitoba. Government commission prices were substantially higher than those charged in British Columbia and Quebec. The system by which all purchases were delivered to permit holders was held responsible for the higher prices.

Japanese Naval Force Refuses to Quit Amoy

Amoy, China, Sept. 26.—Japanese sailors and marines who landed here to protect Formosans against alleged attacks by the Chinese are refusing to leave despite the continued threat of a general strike if they do not evacuate the city. The Peking government is reported to have ordered that General Chang Tse Ping, nominally in control of Amoy, be arrested and deprived of his decorations and medals.

Anderson remains in charge of the door.

Miss Mary Walsh has consented to relieve Mrs. Weber as chairman of the literary committee and work in this section of the club is anticipated with much pleasure. Two new committees have been added, the child welfare committee, Mrs. W. H. Gemmell, chairman, and the Americanization committee, with Mrs. E. J. Quinn as chairman. It is understood that classes in Americanization will be held, to assist the foreign born women to understand more clearly the duties of the American citizen, and to aid them in securing naturalization papers.

The junior study section will be under the direction of Mrs. Clyde L. Burnett, instead of Mrs. W. E. Erickson, as given in Monday's paper. Mrs. Burnett's ability and enthusiasm should do much to assist this section toward further progress and achievement.

NO REST—NO PEACE

There's no peace and little rest for the one who suffers from a bad back, and distressing urinary disorders. Brainerd people recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Be guided by their experience. Ask your neighbor.

Carl Sorman, 709 S. Broadway, Brainerd, says: "My back troubled me because my kidneys were disordered and I surely was in misery. My back pained continually and I could not rest at night. Mornings I was stiff and sore and had to roll out of bed. I couldn't stoop without getting a knife-like jab in my kidneys and I surely was in pain. I didn't dare to pick up anything as it seemed my back would break, it was so stiff. My kidneys acted too frequently and caused me annoyance. I bought a supply of Doan's Kidney Pills at Skauge's Drug Co. and they fixed me up in fine shape."

Leatrice Joy and Albert Roscoe in the Paramount Picture, "JAVA HEAD" A George Melford Production

Leatrice Joy, who plays the role of a high caste Chinese woman in George Melford's Paramount production of "Java Head," which will be the big feature at the Lyceum Theatre tonight and Thursday, had a goodly share of responsibility imposed upon her during the screening of the picture.

The story of "Java Head" has to do with the eternal love triangle. Miss Joy is a Chinese girl who weds an American sea captain who secretly loves another woman. The compromise many a thrill in the development of Joseph Hergesheimer's famous story. In the cast, aside from Miss Joy, are Jacqueline Logan, Raymond Hatton, George Fawcett and Albert Roscoe.

DRINK WATER FREELY IF KIDNEYS BOTHER

Also Take Salts if Back Hurts or Bladder Troubles You

Flush your kidneys by drinking a quart of water each day, also take salts occasionally, says a noted authority, who tells us that too much rich food forms acids which almost paralyze the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken; then you may suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To help neutralize these irritating acids; to help cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste, get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year. Adv.

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 26, 1923

AN APPALLING TRAGEDY

SELDOM have the citizens of Brainerd received such a shock as that of Monday afternoon when the news was passed from lip to lip that George S. McCulloch and Otto Wendt had been killed by the switch engine at the Front street crossing. Both men had risen to prominence in the organizations of farmers in Crow Wing county, Mr. McCulloch as manager of the Co-operative Livestock Shipping association and Mr. Wendt as president of the Co-operative Creamery association.

It is not easy to find men who have a practical knowledge of agriculture and combine with it the business ability required to take over the business interests of the farmers and manage them. These men will be missed because they had given their time and energy to these co-operative movements of the farmers and had proved that they possessed the qualifications needed to win results.

But the sorrow of the community is not born of the fact that they were successful in business; the community grieves because two splendid citizens have been called—called suddenly and tragically. Whoever had been killed in this way the news would have stirred the community but when the men so suddenly called were unusually fine men the shock was greater.

This is another case of the things that men make crushing but the lives of men whom they were made to serve, another crossing accident with an appalling result. Once more men are challenged to provide safety devices that will prevent such accidents, and convicted of a lack of thought for the preservation of the greatest of all values, human life. When the things that are made to serve man become so dangerous and destructive and take such an alarming toll of human lives attention must be directed to the control of the inventions that not only serve but also destroy.

The sympathy of the community goes out to those who have suffered the loss of those they loved and the tragic suddenness of the call augments the measure of sympathy felt by the citizens of Brainerd and Crow Wing county.

CRITICISM OF THE OTHER FELLOW'S INCOME.

MANY who write for the public are out of touch with the public and the result of this isolation appears in the things that are offered to the public from time to time. Recently much has been written relative to the hard time the farmers are having, and attempts are made to prove that these are the result of the high wages received by those who labor in factories and on railroads. Writers have taken the hourly wage of the men in labor organizations and have pointed out that with the amount they receive each hour they could purchase a certain quantity of the produce of the farm which cost the farmer so much to raise and for which he receives little or no profit. Most of these attempts are made for the purpose of proving that there is nothing in common between the farmer and labor.

When the average farmer and members of organized labor read these outpourings of genius they smile. They smile because they see how little the writers know of what the farmer and the organized worker are thinking in these days. They smile because, despite these statements, farmers and workers are joined in a movement that has proved their unity in the majorities given to the candidates they have united in supporting. But they smile most over the inference that they read into the statements of these writers. They conclude that the writer, who receives much more for his writings than the organized worker receives for his labor or the farmer for his produce, thinks that he has some special right to this reward. The farmer and the laborer, however, have not conceded the Divine right of writers, middlemen and professional men. When these writers point out how much farm produce can be bought with the hourly wage of the worker, the worker and farmer are inclined to ask how much can be bought with the hourly income of the writer himself and the others, whose right to their income, which is greater than that of the farmer or the worker seems to be considered as perfectly proper by the men who are out to show the worker's responsibility for the farmer's plight.

This kind of an appeal will not get far. It is not honest, it is not intelligent, it is not consistent, and it is marked by a lack of appreciation of the trend of thought in farmer and labor circles. It is likely to increase rather than diminish the fusion of farmers and workers and it certainly leads these to measure their returns in the light of those of the writers who would advise them and of professional men, railroad presidents and others. Despite the outpouring of these facts and their interpretation by writers, the very thing they seek to check is gaining greater strength, which might suggest that these presentations are doing more harm than good, and a careful appraisal of the facts will show that much of the discontent of the present in farmer and labor circles arises through the "silly" writings which those who would influence them are circulating right along. Much of the defence of things as they are, and therefore of the evils that are, is marked by a lack of appreciation of the intelligence of the readers of an age in which educational facilities have been extended and in which many farmers and workers know more about practical economics and social theories than those who have just accepted the world as it is, and because they are comfortable in it, are willing to have it remain just as it is. Half truths are very dangerous because those who read are likely to see the full truth that is hidden behind the attempt to state the truth in part by those who are blinding themselves more than the reading public.

GERMANY will carefully announce defeat and she hopes that the defeat may not be as bad as it may become if revolution breaks out. If there is revolution France too may announce defeat before very long.

A SPECIAL session of congress is demanded by some interests and opposed by others, and the President is likely to conclude that his troubles will begin early enough as it is.

WALTON CONTROLS THE OKLAHOMA SITUATION

men arrived at the entrance every few minutes.

All the doors were locked and under guard, a fact which did not seem to worry the gathering representatives.

"We will get in there when the rest of the assembly arrives," one of them said. "It is our building; we are the custodians. Something will happen at 12 o'clock."

As the hour for the test of strength between the military and the legislative insurgents drew nearer, state officers began a movement to vacate the capitol, "because it had become an armed camp filled with gun men, soldiers and detectives."

E. R. Hughes, Republican member of the corporation commission, called a meeting of the commissioners to consider moving offices to some other location.

NO SHOW OF FORCE ON EITHER SIDE

Oklahoma City, Okla., Sept. 26.—No show or attempt to use force was made by either side when the climax of Governor Walton's fight on the Ku Klux Klan was reached. Opposition arose over the use of the military in the governor's battle against the Klan, and a movement for impeachment was started among the legislators.

It was apparent that the governor's orders that the crowd disperse had been anticipated by the representatives, and that they had their own plans for further action prepared.

Another action will be instituted immediately, according to Representative W. D. McBee, who established the right to meet despite orders forbidding a session issued by Governor Walton.

Insurgent legislators had been gathering in the capitol building through the morning and prepared to attempt to convene in an extraordinary manner at the capitol today.

A few minutes before noon today the crowd gathered about the doors of the hall of representatives, and the military increased its guard.

Exactly at noon, as the representatives prepared to start forward toward the guard, a shout from the entrance of the senate chambers directly across the lobby attracted their attention.

Col. W. S. Key of the National Guard asked them to assemble about him. They did so in silence. Meanwhile the governor's private gunmen and detectives surrounded the crowd.

Col. Key then read an order sent by Adjt.-Gen. Baird Markham, informing the representatives that the governor warned them not to attempt to convene. The conclusion of the order requested them to disperse.

The crowd melted silently. They left the capitol in a body, discussing the development in low tones.

The governor's detectives and plain clothes men followed the legislators from the building.

Governor Walton was at his home. He did not appear at the capitol all day.

The retreating group of representatives was joined on the capitol grounds by several hundred women carrying American flags.

They were for the most part wives and relatives of the legislators. Sentries kept them from the entrance to the capitol building during the morning.

McBEE ISSUES "WAR BULLETIN"

Oklahoma City, Okla., Sept. 26.—The Oklahoma legislature has not given up its fight to convene for the day.

"DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS IN ROBIN HOOD"

Impeachment of Governor Walton, according to a "war bulletin" issued this afternoon by Representative McBee.

McBee's statement, made immediately after the legislators had obeyed the military order to disperse, follows:

"About 70 members of the house of representatives, feeling it their duty to convene to restore constitutional government in Oklahoma to take the place of a condition of despotism, have made an attempt to convene, after duly electing a speaker pro tem, and temporarily 'we are theirs.'"

"We realize our constitutional rights are in the balance, just as our forefathers did in 1776. We feel that our cause is just, and we will carry on. Never, in the history of the American republic, has such a despotism been established and carried on to such an extent as now prevails in the once fair state of Oklahoma."

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 26, 1923

AN APPALLING TRAGEDY

SELDOM have the citizens of Brainerd received such a shock as that of Monday afternoon when the news was passed from lip to lip that George S. McCulloch and Otto Wendt had been killed by the switch engine at the Front street crossing. Both men had risen to prominence in the organizations of farmers in Crow Wing county, Mr. McCulloch as manager of the Co-operative Livestock Shipping association and Mr. Wendt as president of the Co-operative Creamery association.

It is not easy to find men who have a practical knowledge of agriculture and combine with it the business ability required to take over the business interests of the farmers and manage them. These men will be missed because they had given their time and energy to these co-operative movements of the farmers and had proved that they possessed the qualifications needed to win results.

But the sorrow of the community is not born of the fact that they were successful in business; the community grieves because two splendid citizens have been called—called suddenly and tragically. Whoever had been killed in this way the news would have stirred the community but when the men so suddenly called were unusually fine men the shock was greater.

This is another case of the things that men make crushing out the lives of men whom they were made to serve, another crossing accident with an appalling result. Once more men are challenged to provide safety devices that will prevent such accidents, and convicted of a lack of thought for the preservation of the greatest of all values, human life. When the things that are made to serve man become so dangerous and destructive and take such an alarming toll of human lives attention must be directed to the control of the inventions that not only serve but also destroy.

The sympathy of the community goes out to those who have suffered the loss of those they loved and the tragic suddenness of the call augments the measure of sympathy felt by the citizens of Brainerd and Crow Wing county.

CRITICISM OF THE OTHER FELLOW'S INCOME.

MANY who write for the public are out of touch with the public and the result of this isolation appears in the things that are offered to the public from time to time. Recently much has been written relative to the hard time the farmers are having, and attempts are made to prove that these are the result of the high wages received by those who labor in factories and on railroads. Writers have taken the hourly wage of the men in labor organizations and have pointed out that with the amount they receive each hour they could purchase a certain quantity of the produce of the farm which cost the farmer so much to raise and for which he receives little or no profit. Most of these attempts are made for the purpose of proving that there is nothing in common between the farmer and labor.

When the average farmer and members of organized labor read these outpourings of genius they smile. They smile because they see how little the writers know of what the farmer and the organized worker are thinking in these days. They smile because, despite these statements, farmers and workers are joined in a movement that has proved their unity in the majorities given to the candidates they have united in supporting. But they smile most over the inference that they read into the statements of these writers. They conclude that the writer, who receives much more for his writings than the organized worker receives for his labor or the farmer for his produce, thinks that he has some special right to this reward. The farmer and the laborer, however, have not conceded the Divine right of writers, middlemen and professional men. When these writers point out how much farm produce can be bought with the hourly wage of the worker, the worker and farmer are inclined to ask how much can be bought with the hourly income of the writer himself and the others, whose right to their income, which is greater than that of the farmer or the worker seems to be considered as perfectly proper by the men who are out to show the worker's responsibility for the farmer's plight.

This kind of an appeal will not get far. It is not honest, it is not intelligent, it is not consistent, and it is marked by a lack of appreciation of the trend of thought in farmer and labor circles. It is likely to increase rather than diminish the fusion of farmers and workers and it certainly leads these to measure their returns in the light of those of the writers who would advise them and of professional men, railroad presidents and others. Despite the outpouring of these facts and their interpretation by writers, the very thing they seek to check is gaining greater strength, which might suggest that these presentations are doing more harm than good, and a careful appraisal of the facts will show that much of the discontent of the present in farmer and labor circles arises through the "silly" writings which those who would influence them are circulating right along. Much of the defence of things as they are, and therefore of the evils that are, is marked by a lack of appreciation of the intelligence of the readers of an age in which educational facilities have been extended and in which many farmers and workers know more about practical economics and social theories than those who have just accepted the world as it is, and, because they are comfortable in it, are willing to have it remain just as it is. Half truths are very dangerous because those who read are likely to see the full truth that is hidden behind the attempt to state the truth in part by those who are blinding themselves more than the reading public.

GERMANY will carefully announce defeat and she hopes that the defeat may not be as bad as it may become if revolution breaks out. If there is revolution France too may announce defeat before very long.

A SPECIAL session of congress is demanded by some interests and opposed by others, and the President is likely to conclude that his troubles will begin early enough as it is.

men arrived at the entrance every few minutes.

All the doors were locked and under guard, a fact which did not seem to worry the gathering representatives.

"We will get in there when the rest of the assembly arrives," one of them said. "It is our building; we are the custodians. Something will happen at 12 o'clock."

As the hour for the test of strength between the military and the legislative insurgents drew nearer, state officers began a movement to vacate the capitol, "because it had become an armed camp filled with gun men, soldiers and detectives."

E. R. Hughes, Republican member of the corporation commission, called a meeting of the commissioners to consider moving offices to some other location.

NO SHOW OF FORCE ON EITHER SIDE

Oklahoma City, Okla., Sept. 26.—No show or attempt to use force was made by either side when the climax of Governor Walton's fight on the Ku Klux Klan was reached. Opposition arose over the use of the military in the governor's battle against the Klan, and a movement for impeachment was started among the legislators.

It was apparent that the governor's orders that the crowd disperse had been anticipated by the representatives, and that they had their own plans for further action prepared.

Another action will be instituted immediately, according to Representative W. D. McBee, who established the right to meet despite orders forbidding a session issued by Governor Walton.

Insurgent legislators had been gathering in the capitol building through the morning and prepared to attempt to convene in an extraordinary manner at the capitol today. A few minutes before noon today the crowd gathered about the doors of the hall of representatives, and the military increased its guard.

Exactly at noon, as the representatives prepared to start forward toward the guard, a shout from the entrance of the senate chambers directly across the lobby attracted their attention.

Col. W. S. Key of the National Guard asked them to assemble about him. They did so in silence. Meanwhile the governor's private gunmen and detectives surrounded the crowd.

Col. Key then read an order sent by Adjt.-Gen. Baird Markham informing the representatives that the governor warned them not to attempt to convene. The conclusion of the order requested them to disperse.

The crowd melted silently. They left the capitol in a body, discussing the development in low tones.

The governor's detectives and plain clothes men followed the legislators from the building.

Governor Walton was at his home. He did not appear at the capitol all day.

The retreating group of representatives was joined on the capitol grounds by several hundred women carrying American flags.

They were for the most part wives and relatives of the legislators. Sentries kept them from the entrance to the capitol building during the morning.

38,662 BOOKS WERE BORROWED

Interesting Report Made at Meeting of the Library Board Monday Evening

5,912 BOOKS ON SHELVES

Each Book Was Out Seven Times on an Average, Board Needs Money to Buy More Books

The library board met in the public library on Monday evening. All of the members who are resident in the city were present. Two members of the board are not at present residing in Brainerd but the seven members who are were at the meeting.

The routine business was attended to with dispatch. The librarian's report for the year ending June 30th, 1923 was read. This report furnishes interesting reading both for the board and the community. 38,662 books were borrowed. The report shows that 5,912 books were on the shelves at the beginning of the year and that 6,404 were in possession of the library at the end of the year. When the number of books is taken in relation to the number of times they were borrowed it is seen that each book was out seven times, but as some of the books were not out at all many others were out more than seven times.

The library board is not hard up but it is cramped for capital to supply the demand for books. The library exists to meet this demand and the board looks forward to the time when it will be able to purchase more books called for by the patrons.

At the beginning of last year there was a balance on hand of $1,084.47, whereas at the end of the year the balance was but $363.04. That balance has been still further reduced since the report was made out. If the library is to do as well next year as it has done this year it will be necessary for it to receive a larger income as the balance at the beginning of the year was the result of the additional amount voted by the city council for the year 1922 but which was reduced in the budget for 1923.

OBITUARY OF OTTO WENDT

Otto F. Wendt, one of the victims of Monday afternoon's accident, was born in Germany, May 5th, 1886, and with his parents came to the United States while still a very small boy settling in Winona county, Minnesota.

Here he grew to young manhood and came to Brainerd about twenty years ago, first being employed in the railway shops and then taking up farming in Long Lake township, where he has lived for the past thirteen years.

Mr. Wendt was married on July 10, 1904 to Miss Clara Smith, of Brainerd, and to this union was born two sons, Albert, aged seventeen, and Mervin, thirteen years old.

Besides his widow and children, he is survived by two brothers and three sisters, all of Winona county, Emil and William, Hattie, Elsie and Bertha.

Mr. Wendt was very active in affairs which concerned the farmers. He was president of the Farmers Livestock Shipping Association, and president of the Farmers Co-operative Creamery Association, and director of the South Long Lake Telephone Company.

He is characterized as a kind and loving husband and father, a good neighbor and a true friend. Loved by all who knew him, he will be sadly missed, and will leave a vacant place in the hearts of his many friends that will be hard to fill.

The funeral will be held on Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the German Evangelical church, 211 East Bluff avenue, and interment made in Evergreen cemetery.

Rev. Heitke will officiate at the services.

OBITUARY OF GEO. S. McCULLOCH

George S. McCulloch, one of Brainerd's pioneer residents, was born at St. Marys, Ontario, Canada, October 4th, 1861.

He came to Brainerd some forty years ago, and was married on January 9th, 1884 to Joannah O'Brien. To this union was born five children, all of whom are living, Laurence A., who has been engaged in farming with his father, Mrs. Robert Miller of Livingston, Montana, George S. Jr., also of Livingston, Edward Wallace, employed with the Standard Oil Co. in Brainerd, and McNeal, employed in the Brainerd Fire Department. There are twelve grand children.

Mr. McCulloch was one of the really successful farmers of Crow Wing County. He has resided in Oak Lawn township for the past twenty-six years, where he has built up one of the best improved and best equipped farms in this section.

His interest in public affairs was always very keen. He was for several years chairman of the board of supervisors of Oak Lawn township, was active in the Crow Wing County Farm Bureau, and was prominent in the co-operative movement. He was at the time of his death manager of the Farmers Livestock Shipping Association and a director in the Farmers Co-operative Creamery, serving in that capacity since the creamery was organized. He was superintendent of the county farm for twelve years, and president of the Long Lake Mutual Insurance Company.

Funeral to be Friday

The funeral of the late George S. McCulloch will be held on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the First Congregational church, under the auspices of Unity Lodge, No. 194 of the Odd Fellows, Rev. Fred Errington, officiating.

A large delegation of grand lodge officers and members of the Odd Fellows home board are expected to be present.

The remains will not be taken to the home, but will go directly from the Whitney chapel to the church. The casket will not be opened at either place.

The pallbearers are all old-time, intimate friends of Mr. McCulloch's, being Fred Allison, O. J. Bouma, Silas Hall, Dr. C. A. Nelson, Henry P. Dunn and Henry Bouck. Grand lodge officers and members of the home board will act as honorary pallbearers.

Interment will be made in Evergreen cemetery beside his wife who preceded him in death five years ago.

He was an active Oddfellow, being a member of Unity Lodge No. 194 Rushworth Encampment and Florence Rebekah Lodge. Having passed through the chairs he was elected a delegate to the Grand Lodge. In 1903 he was elected Deputy Grand Master of Minnesota, defeating Wm. Powers, afterward mayor of St. Paul. In 1909 he was chosen to head the Grand Encampment as Grand Patriarch. The following year he represented the Encampment of Minnesota at Atlanta, where Sovereign Grand Lodge was in session.

His hobby was the Oddfellows' Home located at Northfield, Minn. Several times each year he journeyed to Northfield to meet with the directors, working out the plans to provide a home for those less fortunate than he, never receiving compensation for time or service rendered.

To the men and women who knew him he was always "George." They believed in his genuineness—his fairness and his rare good judgment. Brainerd, Crow Wing county and the state of Minnesota has lost a real citizen.

At a meeting held Sept. 5 in Brainerd Mr. McCulloch was presented with a jewel in recognition of the valuable service rendered to Oddfellowship throughout Minnesota. One of the speakers summed up the sentiment of all who knew him when he said: "The test of Oddfellowship or any institution, is the quality of the product it turns out, and George McCulloch is a strong advertisement for the order, an example of what it has accomplished in helping to make a man."

NO BIDS AT MINING SALE

2 Leases, Mining Machinery and Buildings Merritt Development Ordered Sold

ADJOURNMENT TO OCTOBER 13

Minimum Price Set by Federal Court May be Reduced if is Reported

No bids were offered when two leases, the mining machinery and the buildings of the Merritt Development Company were ordered sold Tuesday afternoon at the court house in Brainerd by Federal Judge Wilbur F. Booth of the U. S. District Court. Neal Crowley, receiver of the company, was in charge of the sale.

The meeting adjourned to 2:30 P. M. October 13th. In the meantime, it is presumed, the receiver may ask the court to reduce the minimum set for the sale price.

The court order of sale is the culmination of a suit brought by creditors of the Merritt Company to collect royalties, interest, and assessments for the High Grade Manganese Company and the Gorham-Garrett Company, who own the property leased to the Merritt Company. It is located in section 33, township 47, range 29.

The order showed that the Merritt company is indebted to the High Grade Manganese Company, $28,125.21, and to the Gorham-Garrett Company for $9,062.73.

The sale, when eventually held, will wind up the affairs of the Merritt Development Company in the court. The company has had a varied career since the leases were taken up in 1916. During the war, some development work was done, but the mines have been shut down for the last four years.

Mr. Wendt was very active in affairs which concerned the farmers. He was president of the Farmers Livestock Shipping Association, and president of the Farmers Co-operative Creamery Association, and director of the South Long Lake Telephone Company.

He is characterized as a kind and loving husband and father, a good neighbor and a true friend. Loved by all who knew him, he will be sadly missed, and will leave a vacant place in the hearts of his many friends that will be hard to fill.

The funeral will be held on Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the German Evangelical church, 211 East Bluff avenue, and interment made in Evergreen cemetery.

Rev. Heitke will officiate at the services.

OBITUARY OF GEO. S. McCULLOCH

George S. McCulloch, one of Brainerd's pioneer residents, was born at St. Marys, Ontario, Canada, October 4th, 1861.

He came to Brainerd some forty years ago, and was married on January 9th, 1884 to Joannah O'Brien. To this union was born five children, all of whom are living, Laurence A., who has been engaged in farming with his father, Mrs. Robert Miller of Livingston, Montana, George S. Jr., also of Livingston, Edward Wallace, employed with the Standard Oil Co., in Brainerd, and McNeal, employed in the Brainerd Fire Department. There are twelve grand children.

Mr. McCulloch was one of the really successful farmers of Crow Wing County. He has resided in Oak Lawn township for the past twenty-six years, where he has built up one of the best improved and best equipped farms in this section.

His interest in public affairs was always very keen. He was for several years chairman of the board of supervisors of Oak Lawn township, was active in the Crow Wing County Farm Bureau, and was prominent in the co-operative movement. He was at the time of his death manager of the Farmers Livestock Shipping Association and a director in the Farmers Co-operative Creamery, serving in that capacity since the creamery was organized. He was superintendent of the county farm for twelve years, and president of the Long Lake Mutual Insurance Company.

Funeral to be Friday
The funeral of the late George S. McCulloch will be held on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the First Congregational church, under the auspices of Unity lodge, No. 194 of the Odd Fellows, Rev. Fred Errington, officiating.

A large delegation of grand lodge officers and members of the Odd Fellows home board are expected to be present.

The remains will not be taken to the home, but will go directly from the Whitney chapel to the church. The casket will not be opened at either place.

The pallbearers are all old-time, intimate friends of Mr. McCulloch's, being Fred Allison, O. J. Bouma, Silas Hall, Dr. C. A. Nelson, Henry P. Dunn and Henry Bouck. Grand lodge officers and members of the home board will act as honorary pallbearers.

Interment will be made in Evergreen cemetery beside his wife who preceded him in death five years ago.

He was an active Oddfellow, being a member of Unity Lodge No. 194 Rushworth Encampment and Florence Rebekah Lodge. Having passed through the chairs he was elected a delegate to the Grand Lodge. In 1903 he was elected Deputy Grand Master of Minnesota, defeating Wm. Powers, afterward mayor of St. Paul. In 1909 he was chosen to head the Grand Encampment as Grand Patriarch. The following year he represented the Encampment of Minnesota at Atlanta, where Sovereign Grand Lodge was in session.

His hobby was the Oddfellows' Home located at Northfield, Minn. Several times each year he journeyed to Northfield to meet with the directors, working out the plans to provide a home for those less fortunate than he, never receiving compensation for time or service rendered.

To the men and women who knew him he was always "George." They believed in his genuineness—his fairness and his rare good judgment. Brainerd, Crow Wing county and the state of Minnesota has lost a real citizen.

At a meeting held Sept. 5 in Brainerd Mr. McCulloch was presented with a jewel in recognition of the valuable service rendered to Oddfellowship throughout Minnesota. One of the speakers summed up the sentiment of all who knew him when he said: "The test of Oddfellowship or any institution, is the quality of the product it turns out, and George McCulloch is a strong advertisement for the order, an example of what it has accomplished in helping to make a man."

NO BIDS AT MINING SALE

2 Leases, Mining Machinery and Buildings Merritt Development Ordered Sold

ADJOURNMENT TO OCTOBER 13
Minimum Price Set by Federal Court May be Reduced if it is Reported

No bids were offered when two leases, the mining machinery and the buildings of the Merritt Development Company were ordered sold Tuesday afternoon at the court house in Brainerd by Federal Judge Wilbur F. Booth of the U. S. District Court. Neal Crowley, receiver of the company, was in charge of the sale.

The meeting adjourned to 2:30 P. M. October 13th. In the meantime, it is presumed, the receiver may ask the court to reduce the minimum set for the sale price.

The court order of sale is the culmination of a suit brought by creditors of the Merritt Company to collect royalties, interest, and assessments for the High Grade Manganese Company and the Gorham-Garbert Company, who own the property leased to the Merritt Company. It is located in section 33, township 47, range 29.

The order showed that the Merritt company is indebted to the High Grade Manganese Company, $28,125.21, and to the Gorham-Garbert Company for $9,062.75.

The sale, when eventually held, will wind up the affairs of the Merritt Development Company in the court. The company has had a varied career since the leases were taken up in 1916. During the war, some development work was done, but the mines have been shut down for the last four years.

DEMPSEY WON PLACE IN PUBLIC'S HEART

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

New York, Sept. 26.—Jack Dempsey once remarked during a general discussion of his business that the life of a heavyweight champion was anything but rosy, because he could have so few friends upon whom he could depend.

"The tough thing about this business is that you have to lose to find out who are really your friends," Dempsey said. "The real test comes when you are defeated and you call the roll of alleged friends and find out how many of them have not gone to the winner's dressing room."

The champion's theory was proved at least partially during his fight with Luis Firpo. He didn't lose, of course, but came nearer to defeat than any fighter could and escape with a victory.

Dempsey had to be knocked clear out of the ring, punched to his knees twice and pounded all over the ring to attain the position as a real popular champion.

Perhaps the most pleasing experience Dempsey brought out of that hectic evening came when he heard the pack yelling wildly: "Come on, Jack!" as he was pulling himself into the ring and when he realized that at last he had some big part of the public back of him.

Sitting in the front row of the ringside seats, back of the press pit, was a boxing manager, who had been Dempsey's most bitter critic, a man who had gone out of his way to express his bitter contempt of the champion as a personality and a fighter. He said when he came to the ringside before the fight that he had paid his way into a fight for the first time in his life in the hope that he could see Dempsey "knocked dead."

When Dempsey was knocked out of the ring down into the lap of a sport writer, when he pulled himself gamely back into the ring and when he stood almost helpless against the ropes within one good punch of being knocked out, this fight manager, who had come to see him "knocked dead," was the loudest among those who were shouting in a frenzy: "Come on, Jack; come on!"

After the fight this same manager remarked that he was for Dempsey. "That fellow is a great fighter. I don't believe there ever was a greater fighter. He's game and he's got a heart as big as a mountain. I was wrong about his fighting ability and it stands to reason that I may have been just as wrong about him in other things," he said.

AMUSEMENTS

When You Gamble Don't Use Your Own Money

He says he never gambles for pleasure. And in his office hangs the sign, "gamble with the other fellow's money—not your own."

He is mercenary and merciless in business transactions. And he makes up his mind to manipulate the stock market so as to break his best friend—and wreck his home.

This is the kind of villain Robert Edson depicts in the powerful Paramount picture, "The Silent Partner." A Charles Maigne production, which will be shown at the New Park to-night and Thursday. Leatrice Joy, Owen Moore and Robert Edson are featured.

"Old Fiddlers" at Lyceum

Tonight is the night to hear the Old Fiddlers at the Lyceum and, judging from the past, it would be wise for one to go early for seats.

For these contests have proven very popular and always draw a full house.

"Cy" Williams to be Presented With Car

Philadelphia, Sept. 26.—Local baseball fans are planning a surprise for "Cy" Williams, the Philadelphia National's home run slugger, who has given Babe Ruth a close race most of the season for home run honors of the major leagues, when the team arrives home Thursday to open a series with Boston. They day has been designated as "Cy" Williams day, and the center fielder will be presented with a motor car, the gift of Philadelphia admirers.

JUNIOR WORLD'S SERIES TO START IN WEST ON WED., OCTOBER 10TH

St. Paul, Sept. 26.—The first game of junior world's series between Baltimore, champions of the International league, and either St. Paul or Kansas City, who are still fighting for the American association pennant, will be played in the association territory Oct. 10, according to word received from President T. J. Hickey.

The decision to start in the west is made with due regard to the weather which is more severe in St. Paul than in Baltimore.

After the western series of four games, Oct. 10, 11, 13 and 14, which will almost certainly be played in St. Paul, the teams will go to Baltimore to open the eastern series Oct. 17.

WRITER, FIGHTER AND GOLFER PLAY MATCH ON SALT LAKE LINKS

Salt Lake City, Sept. 26.—Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight boxing champion, has nothing but praise for the way George "Gix" Von Elm, nationally known Utah golfer, performs on the links. At the municipal course, Dempsey and Von Elm played with Ruel Halloran of Salt Lake and Robert Edgren, prominent sports writer. No scores were kept.

"Gee whiz, young fellow, you can certainly paste that golf ball," was Dempsey's comment on one of Von Elm's long drives.

Dempsey will remain in Salt Lake several days longer before proceeding to the Pacific coast. He reached here Saturday from New York for a visit with his parents and to rest after his battle with Luis Angel Firpo.

Scott Now Has Right To Claim Successive Games Played Record

New York, Sept. 26.—The record for consecutive performances in baseball games—major and minor—now belongs to Everett Scott, shortstop of the New York Yankees without a doubt. Early this season he established a new record for the major league, but some statistician delved and learned that Perry Lipe, a player in the Southern league, held the record at 1,127 consecutive games, finished in 1902.

Scott has run his string up to 1,128 games. If he plays the remaining games on the Yankees' schedule this year he will have completed seven full seasons and part of another without having missed a regularly scheduled game. He began his major career with the Red Sox on June 20, 1916.

FIGHT RESULTS

Philadelphia, Sept. 26.—The scheduled eight round bout between Geo. Chaney of Baltimore and Harry Kid Brown of this city was stopped in the first round, the referee upholding Brown's claim that he had been fouled. The local boxer protested that one of the first blows struck by Chaney was low, but the referee ordered them to continue. A few seconds later Brown protested against another blow, and after he had been examined by the club physician his claim was upheld.

Villa Gets Decision

Boston, Sept. 26.—Pancho Villa, world's flyweight champion, was given the decision over Tony Thomas of New Bedford in a 10 round bout here. Villa weighed in at 112 pounds and Thomas at 114 3-4.

Jeff Smith Wins

Juarez, Mex., Sept. 26.—Jeff Smith of Bayonne, N. Y., won the referee's decision over Lee Anderson of Boston here. Smith won nine out of the 15 rounds. They boxed at catch weights.

50 DANGEROUS AGE IN GOLF, DOCTORS SAY

London, Sept. 26.—The death of A. R. Smith, secretary of Dover college, who succumbed while playing golf, has revived the discussion of the age at which golfers should retire. Mr. Smith was 55 and was the twelfth English golfer past middle life to die on the link this year.

Some British physicians contend that 50 is the game's danger mark. They say that the arteries have become rigid at this age and that club swinging is likely to be fatal.

Michigan, Ohio State Tickets Are Sold Out

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 26.—Followers of Michigan and Ohio State football teams will travel to Ann Arbor, Oct. 20, by boat, special trains, automobiles, bikes and on foot. With the exception of 3,000 tickets being held for Ohio State's students, Director Yost informed Henry Taylor, Ohio's ticket seller, that the entire lot of 43,000 tickets had been sold.

DEMPSEY WON PLACE IN PUBLIC'S HEART

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

New York, Sept. 26.—Jack Dempsey once remarked during a general discussion of his business that the life of a heavyweight champion was anything but rosy, because he could have so few friends upon whom he could depend.

"The tough thing about this business is that you have to lose to find out who are really your friends," Dempsey said. "The real test comes when you are defeated and you call the roll of alleged friends and find out how many of them have not gone to the winner's dressing room."

The champion's theory was proved at least partially during his fight with Luis Firpo. He didn't lose, of course, but came nearer to defeat than any fighter could and escape with a victory.

Dempsey had to be knocked clear out of the ring, punched to his knees twice and pounded all over the ring to attain the position as a real popular champion.

Perhaps the most pleasing experience Dempsey brought out of that hectic evening came when he heard the pack yelling wildly: "Come on, Jack!" as he was pulling himself into the ring and when he realized that at last he had some big part of the public back of him.

Sitting in the front row of the ringside seats, back of the press pit, was a boxing manager, who had been Dempsey's most bitter critic, a man who had gone out of his way to express his bitter contempt of the champion as a personality and a fighter. He said when he came to the ringside before the fight that he had paid his way into a fight for the first time in his life in the hope that he could see Dempsey "knocked dead."

When Dempsey was knocked out of the ring down into the lap of a sport writer, when he pulled himself gamely back into the ring and when he stood almost helpless against the ropes within one good punch of being knocked out, this fight manager, who had come to see him "knocked dead," was the loudest among those who were shouting in a frenzy: "Come on, Jack; come on!"

After the fight this same manager remarked that he was for Dempsey. "That fellow is a great fighter. I don't believe there ever was a greater fighter. He's game and he's got a heart as big as a mountain. I was wrong about his fighting ability and it stands to reason that I may have been just as wrong about him in other things," he said.

AMUSEMENTS

When You Gamble Don't Use Your Own Money

He says he never gambles for pleasure. And in his office hangs the sign, "gamble with the other fellow's money—not your own."

He is mercenary and merciless in business transactions. And he makes up his mind to manipulate the stock market so as to break his best friend—and wreck his home.

This is the kind of villain Robert Edson depicts in the powerful Paramount picture, "The Silent Partner," a Charles Maigne production, which will be shown at the New Park to night and Thursday. Leatrice Joy, Owen Moore and Robert Edson are featured.

"Old Fiddlers" at Lyceum

Tonight is the night to hear the Old Fiddlers at the Lyceum, and, judging from the past, it would be wise for one to go early for seats.

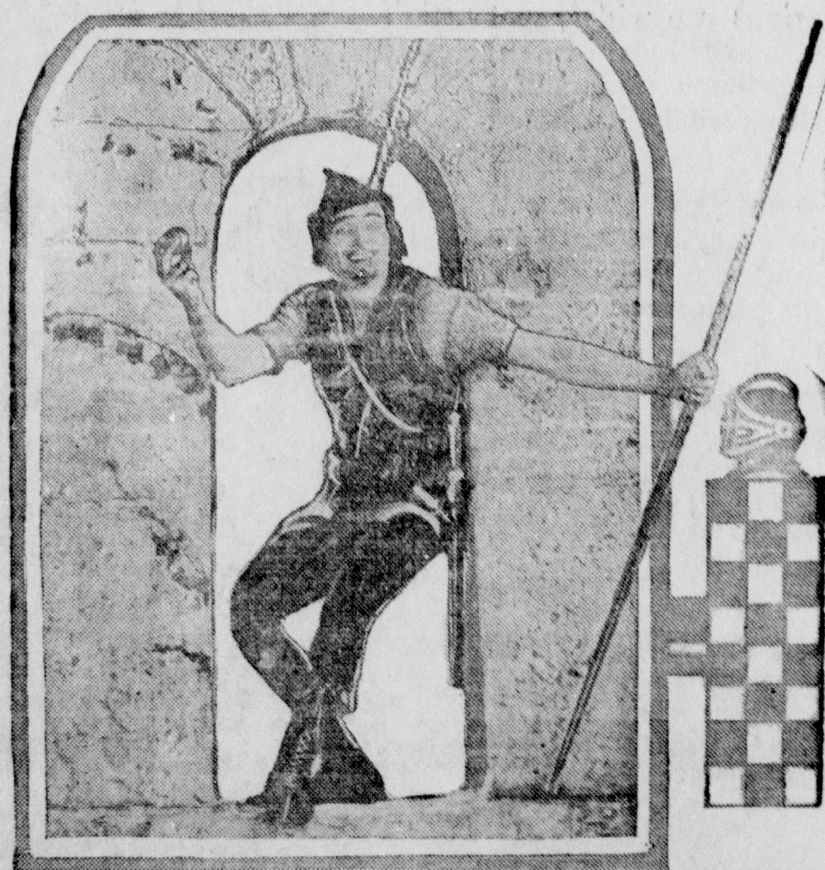

For these contests have proven very popular and always draw a full house.

"Cy" Williams to be Presented With Car

Philadelphia, Sept. 26.—Local baseball fans are planning a surprise for "Cy" Williams, the Philadelphia National's home run slugger, who has given Babe Ruth a close race most of the season for home run honors of the major leagues, when the team arrives home Thursday to open a series with Boston. They day has been designated as "Cy" Williams day, and the center fielder will be presented with a motor car, the gift of Philadelphia admirers.

Active Volcanoes, 270.

Between six hundred and seven hundred volcanoes have been counted in various parts of the world, and of these 270 are on the active list.

"DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS IN ROBIN HOOD"

Hat For Every Scene in Fairbanks' Film

Speaking of hats! Allan Dwan, who directed Douglas Fairbanks in his latest screen sensation, "Douglas Fairbanks in Robin Hood," had a series of temperamental hats—one for every scene! The newest addition to the Dwan hat family is a cork helmet—the same kind as they wear in Egypt and South Africa.

"All the knights are wearing a helmet," said Dwan, "so I thought I might as well, too."

He said he thought seriously during the making of this United Artists release, which is coming to the New Park Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, four days, of making everybody in the organization dress in the period, meaning in armor or silken robes.

JUNIOR WORLD'S SERIES TO START IN WEST ON WED., OCTOBER 10TH

St. Paul, Sept. 26.—The first game of junior world's series between Baltimore, champions of the International league, and either St. Paul or Kansas City, who are still fighting for the American association pennant, will be played in the association territory Oct. 10, according to word received from President T. J. Hickey.

The decision to start in the west is made with due regard to the weather which is more severe in St. Paul than in Baltimore.

After the western series of four games, Oct. 10, 11, 12 and 14, which will almost certainly be played in St. Paul, the teams will go to Baltimore to open the eastern series Oct. 17.

WRITER, FIGHTER AND GOLFER PLAY MATCH ON SALT LAKE LINKS

Salt Lake City, Sept. 26.—Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight boxing champion, has nothing but praise for the way George "Gix" Von Elm, nationally known Utah golfer, performs on the links. At the municipal course, Dempsey and Von Elm played with Ruel Halloran of Salt Lake and Robert Edgren, prominent sports writer. No scores were kept. "Gee whiz, young fellow, you can certainly paste that golf ball," was Dempsey's comment on one of Von Elm's long drives.

Dempsey will remain in Salt Lake several days longer before proceeding to the Pacific coast. He reached here Saturday from New York for a visit with his parents and to rest after his battle with Luis Angel Firpo.

Scott Now Has Right To Claim Successive Games Played Record

New York, Sept. 26.—The record for consecutive performances in baseball games—major and minor—now belongs to Everett Scott, shortstop of the New York Yankees without a doubt. Early this season he established a new record for the major league, but some statistician dived and learned that Perry Lipe, a player in the Southern league, held the record at 1,127 consecutive games, finished in 1902.

Scott has run his string up to 1,128 games. If he plays the remaining games on the Yankees' schedule this year he will have completed seven full seasons and part of another without having missed a regularly scheduled game. He began his major career with the Red Sox on June 20, 1916.

FIGHT RESULTS

Philadelphia, Sept. 26.—The scheduled eight round bout between Geo. Chaney of Baltimore and Harry Kid Brown of this city was stopped in the first round, the referee upholding Brown's claim that he had been fouled. The local boxer protested that one of the first blows struck by Chaney was low, but the referee ordered them to continue. A few seconds later Brown protested against another blow, and after he had been examined by the club physician his claim was upheld.

Villa Gets Decision

Boston, Sept. 26.—Pancho Villa, world's flyweight champion, was given the decision over Tony Thomas of New Bedford in a 10 round bout here. Villa weighed in at 112 pounds and Thomas at 114 3-4.

Jeff Smith Wins

Juarez, Mex., Sept. 26.—Jeff Smith of Bayonne, N. Y., won the referee's decision over Lee Anderson of Boston here. Smith won nine out of the 15 rounds. They boxed at catch weights.

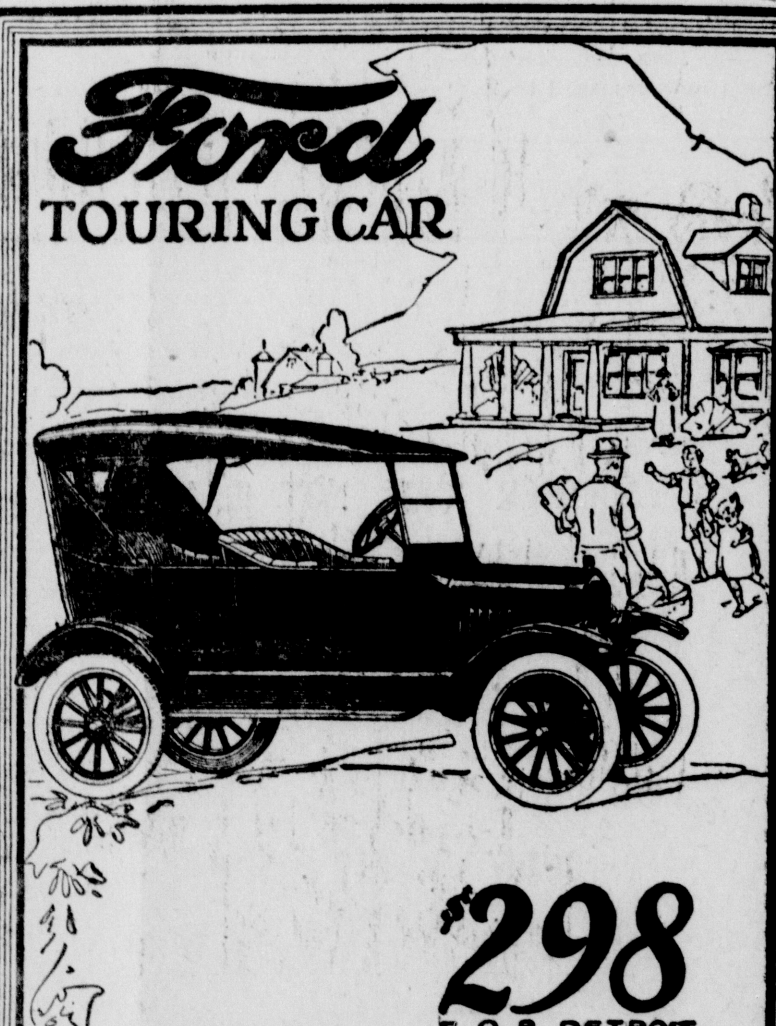

50 DANGEROUS AGE IN GOLF, DOCTORS SAY

London, Sept. 26.—The death of A. R. Smith, secretary of Dover college, who succumbed while playing golf, has revived the discussion of the age at which golfers should retire. Mr. Smith was 65 and was the twelfth English golfer past middle life to die on the link this year.

Some British physicians contend that 50 is the game's danger mark. They say that the arteries have become rigid at this age and that club swinging is likely to be fatal.

Michigan, Ohio State Tickets Are Sold Out

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 26.—Followers of Michigan and Ohio State football teams will travel to Ann Arbor, Oct. 20, by boat, special trains, automobiles, bikes and on foot. With the exception of 3,000 tickets being held for Ohio State's students, Director Yost informed Henry Taylor, Ohio's ticket seller, that the entire lot of 43,000 tickets had been sold.
